DEFENDS FRANCE'S INVASION OF RUHR IN ADDRESS HERE

Prof. Ranette Of Mt. Union
Speaker At Travelers Club Meeting.

DECLARES FRANCE SUFFERS TERRIBLY

Occupation Of Ruhr Seeks To Bring Germany To Terms, He Says.

That France might bring Germany to terms is her reason for occupying the Ruhr valley, according to Prof.
A. Ranette, professor of French at Mt. Union college, who spoke on the Ruhr Valley situation at a meeting of the Travelers Club members Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

France has been criticized severely in the position she has taken in the situation, he stated. "France has suffered terribly. That France needs the sympathy of those who fought with her in the great war, was the opinion expressed by Prof. Ranette.
The speaker pointed out that the Ruhr valley was Germany's most important region and that she was working it for her own benefit.

The Germans are paying less tax per person than France, England and America, Prof. Ranette told his audience.

It is hoped that these countries will accept the reparations commission plan of settlement, he said.

During the war Prof. Ranette was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work and much of his address had to do with his experiences in the service. In 1917 he was engaged in pastoral work in London, Mass., ministering to the French speaking people. He gave up this work to enter the service. Prof. Ra-nette gave a vivid description of the first night in London, when the large building was torpedoed from an airplane with a toll of 300 lives.

When the rejoicing of the signing of the armistice was over France had to take stock of the damage facing her, he said. Statistics showing the terrible loss that France had suffered in every way, were read by the speaker. He told of the millions of acres of ground that was unfit for tilling owing to the trenches to be filled and barbed wire to be cleared away, of the railroads and highways and industries which had to be replaced, while Germany suffered very little loss like this.

The first six months after the war more than 600 farmers lost their lives while plowing in fields torn by shells. Some of these which had not enveloped did so when the steel of the plowshare struck them.

Prof. Ranette brought out the thought that a person just going to France for six months and living on the best of the land was not able to judge the situation like one who had been there during the war and knew of the hardships these people had endured and of the devastation of the country. Much reconstruction work has been accomplished by France, despite her heavy war debt.

Mrs. James A. Atchison, assisted by Mrs. Stanton Heck and Mrs. John
Rust was in charge of the program.
Some interesting miscellaneous items were read by Mrs. Heck.

Mrs. Lowe King, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Hundermark, sang two songs beautifully and Mrs. Harold Braman played two pleasing piano songs. These numbers with the address were much appreciated.

HARMAN TO SPEAK TO SCOUT LEADERS

Former Pastor Is Coming Thursday To Speak At Training Course.

Much interest has been manifest in the Scout Leaders Training course offered by the Northern Columbia County Council in charge of Scout Executive L. R. Chamberlain.

The course, which began Feb. 7 and will continue until April 10, includes 10 sessions, held once a week, 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce rooms this city.

Rev. J. P. Harman of Braddock, Pa., former pastor of Holy Trinity English Catholic church, will be here for the Thursday evening session this week and speak on "Boys." Rev. Harman was much interested in the Boy Scout activities while in this city and was scoutmaster of a troop.

Scout Executive Chamberlain announced that C. E. Carmack of Cincinnati, regional executive, is expected to be at the session March 6. A feature will be a model troop meeting with Troops 1 and 3 of Salem giving the demonstration.

J. S. Alan, superintendent of schools, gave a talk on "Psychology of Learning" at last week's session, which was much appreciated. Some of the things he spoke of that we learn by intuition, imitation and by example.

LONGWORTH SEEKS INSURGENTS' HELP FOR TAX PROPOSAL

Must Break Into Wisconsin Delegation To Win On Compromise Plan.

INDICATIONS OF WEAKENING TODAY

Lull In Tax Fight While Congress Honors Memory Of Harding.

Washington, Feb. 27. — With the battle-scarred tax reduction bill cut and slashed so badly by the Democrats, the Republicans are ready to disclaim any responsibility for the legislation which will be brought to a final vote in the house on Friday under plans perfected today by the ways and means committee.

Participants in the tax fight had a breathing spell today while congress paid its full measure of respect to the memory of the late President Harding, but the battle will rage again tomorrow.

Republican Leader Longworth was still hopeful that a sufficient number of Republican insurgents could be won over to his compromise plan of 37 1/2 per cent maximum surtax, 2 per cent on incomes of $4,000 and 4 per cent on incomes of between $4,000 and $10,000, to substitute it for the Garner plan which has been written into the bill.

The Longworth plan more nearly conforms to Mellon plan than that in the bill, and its substitution would enable the Republicans to claim the legislation.

He has learned that Rep. Woodruff Michigan, one of the insurgents, has declared his intention to switch from the Garner to the Longworth plan and other insurgents are said to be wavering. In order to win Longworth must break into the Wisconsin delegation, led by Rep. Frear and Nelson and this delegation has stood solidly behind its leaders. There are no indications today of a weakening in its lineup.

Will Force Record Votes
Longworth will force roll call record votes on several provisions of the tax reduction legislation when the bill is placed on passage. The main fight will be over the income tax provisions, especially the maximum surtax. This contest has narrowed down until it is close but it will not be in doubt unless there is a split in the Wisconsin delegation. The Demo-

STORM AND FIRE INTERFERE WITH PHONE SERVICE

If your telephone is not working properly call the trouble center says Manager H. M. Huffman of the Ohio Bell.

The severe sleet storm and then the fire have been very burdensome to the plant of the telephone company, and three crews of repairmen have been working night and day on Sundays and holidays, to get all lines in shape, and will have complete service restored very soon.

Six cables were broken by the storm, and many poles were pulled over, and many individual lines were cut. The fire damaged service in the business district but that is nearly complete now.

C. Bascom Slemo of Virginia, private secretary to President Coolidge, was summoned before the senate committee investigating the oil lease scandals to tell of his visit to Palm Beach, Fla., at the time ex-Secretary Albert B. Fall and Edward B. McLean, multimillionaire Washington and Cincinnati publisher, were there.

John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican National committee, issued a statement defending Attorney-General
H. M. Daugherty and inveighing again his being forced to retire under fire.
Secretary of Agriculture Henry C.
Wallace of Iowa is reported ready to retire from the cabinet because of friction with Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

Lieutenant John A. MacCreedy, in an unsuccessful effort to establish a new world's altitude record, rose 34,983 feet—six miles—above Dayton, O., when failure of his supercharger forced him to descend after flying in 60 degrees below zero weather.

Gabrielle d'Annunzio, world famous Italian poet and aviator, is seriously ill
in Turin with gastritis.
Dartmouth college, founded in 1776
by Eleazer Wheelock, with the good offices of Ben Franklin and John Adams, would take Leon Trotsky into his teaching staff if he would accept, according to its president, Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, in an address in Chicago.

WOMAN MURDERED. BODY IN BOX CAR

Hammond, Ind. Feb. 27.—An unidentified woman clothed in an expensive fur coat with diamond earrings in her ears, was found murdered today in a box car on the Indian belt line railroad at Gibson, Ind., four miles east of here.

Two bullet wounds in her head showed the manner of her death.

Bandits Stab Hotel Clerk, Securing $100

Toledo, Feb. 27.—Striking Harry Richmond, hotel clerk in the Hardy three bandits then proceeded to loot
the clerk and Walter Roberts, clavator boy, in a room, secured $100 from the cash register and escaped from the Monticello hotel here today.

Few Eulogized More Few departed presidents have been more eulogized more than was Mr.
Harding in the address of his secretary of state. He reviewed at length the accomplishments of his administration of the republic, but it was upon the humaneness and kindness of the late president that he laid the greatest stress.

"It is fitting," said Secretary Hughes
"that we should render the official tribute of respect, but the significance of this occasion is far deeper than that."

"It is the tribute inspired by love of country, as laying aside the differences and controversies which seem but trivial in the face of man's adventures and God's providence. We stand united by the indissoluble bonds of a common patriotism, knowing well that ungrateful republics cannot endure."
"The temples of democracy will be

QUEEN MARY III, UNEASINESS IS FELT IN LONDON

London, Feb. 27.—Newspapers today expressed uneasiness over the state of Queen Mary's health. Following issuance of a court bulletin saying she was confined to her home by a severe cold.

The queen was unable to accompany King George to the Duchess of Roxburgh's grand dinner party last night.

Dowager Queen Alexandra, mother of King George and widow of the late King Edward, is indisposed at Sandringham palace. Her secretary said she was merely suffering from the effects of old age.

Queen Mary is in her 57th year;
Dowager Queen Alexandra is in her 80th.

REVEALS DANGERS OF U. S. CONTROL OF RAIL SYSTEMS

We're Drifting Away From Constitution, Says
Erie Chief.

ROTARIANS HEAR ROBERT PARSONS

Students To See Film As Guests Of Club Next Tuesday Noon.

"We are drifting away from the constitution, with its protection of individual rights. The government is getting too complicated; we must get back to the simplicity of our fathers."

In this way Robert S. Parsons of Youngstown, vice president of the Erie Railroad Co., emphasized the burden of his address before the Rotary club Tuesday afternoon in the Elks lodge room.

Parsons, who arrived in Salem on a special Erie train routed over the lines of the Y. & O. R. Co., was discussing railroad problems as affected by evolution of the country's governmental system. He went back to the revolutionary period to trace the trend of government since the signing of the constitution and he said it is well in these days to consider that vehicle, with its four wheels, legislative, executive, judicial and inherent rights of the people.

It was 60 years before a change was made in the constitution and then came the Civil war, but government survived because, he said, our foundation was sound.

Then came three amendments, and later others, as the pernicious policy of "to the victor belongs the spoils" entered into our political life, and still later the direct election of senators, which he declared had changed these men from statesmen to demagogues.

He traced these changes in governmental policy to show the trend away from the original and sound policy of our forefathers and declared the constitution should not be changed.

RAILROAD PROBLEMS

These changes cannot be considered without bringing in the railroads,
he said, for the transportation problem has been vital to affected for 11 years, he said, the interstate commerce commission and the railroads have been struggling with problem of fixing a value on railroad returns,
the former agency spending 379 million dollars and the railroads 60 millions during that period.

The result was a fixed value of $29-000,000,000 on the original basis, which was reduced to 11 billions on the recent value.

Senator LaFollette, who has been agitating this problem, is not interested in freight rates, but in government ownership, Parsons said. If freight rates are cut, inside of one to three years all railroads would be in the hands of receivers, he continued, their facilities would be curtailed and

Providing Heat For Hose Drying Tower

With 3,000 feet of hose to dry, and nothing but a cold hose tower in the city hall in which to hang all the hose used at the $160,000 fire Saturday night, Service Districting F. A. Rinehart was installing a heating pipe from the large coal stove in the fire department headquarters in city hall Wednesday, so that heat can be distributed to the tower.

Most of the hose is ready to be used, but cannot be placed in trucks until thoroughly dried. It will be the first time that heat has been connected with the drying tower.

Beechwood School Opened Wednesday

Beechwood school resumed its regular sessions Wednesday after being closed because the teacher, Miss Phila Fields, broke her arm last Saturday night. Miss Fields is recovering and was able to return to her school this morning.

Filson - Patterson Recital Delightful Musical Treat

Music lovers of Salem Tuesday night at the high school auditorium were given a musical treat, than which there have been few better in several years here.

The highly enthusiastic and very appreciative audience heard the masterly baritone voice of J. William Filson, noted Salem singer, and it was the finest concert that Mr. Filson has ever given his city. That same audience listened to the wonderful work of a renowned pianist, Mrs. Mary Virginia Patterson, of New Castle, Pa., who accompanied Mr. Filson, and played four numbers in solo.

The program opened with the Evening Star, an opus of Wagner, sung by Mr. Filson, and accompanied by Mrs.
Patterson. Four numbers were in the first series, and with that series the

SON OF McADOO DENIES PART IN OIL LEASE CASE

New York, Feb. 27.—"I am in no way involved in the oil lease scandal.
Further than that I have absolutely no comment to make."

This was the statement today of Francis H. McAdoo, whose name was found in telegrams by the senate investigating committee, at Washington, as having "advised" Edward B.
McLean, Washington publisher, about certain matters.

McAdoo is an attorney in the firm of Miller & Otis, and a son of V. G.
McAdoo, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

AGED WOMAN DIES ON HER BIRTHDAY

Agnes Waterworth, 78, Dies
Wednesday At Home On E. Fourth St.

Miss Agnes Waterworth, 78, died at 12:45 p. m. Wednesday at her home, East Fourth st., from inflammation of the age.

Miss Waterworth, the daughter of Eliza Jane and Samuel Waterworth, was born in Salem and had spent all her life here. When she was only two months old the family moved to the present home on East Fourth st.
and since that time have always resided there.

Miss Waterworth was 78 years old today. She had been a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church and had taught in the primary department for years.

She is survived by one sister, Mary Waterworth, who lived with her.
The funeral service will be held at the home, 37 East Fourth st., at 2:30
p. m. Friday, in charge of Rev. P. H.
Gordon. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Kindly omit flowers.

CRABB RAPS CARD MEN, FEE SPLITTING

Violating Law To Enforce Prohibition, Says Attorney General.

Columbus, Feb. 27.—"There is no authority for the appointment of card men permanently to work with magistrates," asserted Atty. Gen. Crabb today, commenting upon the action of State Probation Commissioner
McDonald in appointing "card" men.
He said it was "putting the prohibition law in disrepute." The attorney general also, attacked the policy of fee-splitting.

Crabb declared that the activities of card men constitute "violation of one law to enforce another because they are operating without authority of law."

The attorney general held that the law provides only for temporary inspectors and not for permanent card men, "such as are now on the job probably." He said he continuously receives complaints from various parts of Ohio, alleging rough tactics on the part of "card" men and charges of "fee-splitting."

A state of affairs has arisen which makes him feel that the prohibition laws are "being brought into disrepute," he said.

Belgian Cabinet Out

Brussels, Feb. 27.—The Belgian cabinet resigned this afternoon after the Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 55 to 79 voted down Premier Theunis' proposed commercial treaty with France.

Whole Situation Discussed At Lengthy Conference In White House.

STATEMENT WILL COME LATE TODAY

Retirement Would Lead To Attacks On Others,
Says Daugherty.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The status of Atty. Gen. Harry M. Daugherty, his retirement or retention in the cabinet—will be cleared up within 12 hours, it was strongly indicated today following a lengthy conference between President Coolidge and his attorney general at the White House.
Upon leaving the executive mansion at 10:30 o'clock, Daugherty said he thought there would be an announcement either from the White House or the department of justice by nightfall, but he steadfastly declined to indicate its nature, or when it might be expected.

"Have you submitted your resignation to the president?" the attorney general was asked.

"That is a perfectly proper question," he replied, "but it also is a foolish one."

"What do you mean by foolish?"
persisted a reporter, "foolish to expect an answer or foolish to expect you to resign?"

Daugherty laughed and declined to answer. He was apparently in good spirits and pleased at the result of his interview with the president.

The expectation prevails at the capital that the attorney general will get out, yet neither Daugherty himself nor his friends would confirm this today and questioners at the White House were greeted with silence.

There was a lengthy conference at the White House last night, participated in by President Coolidge, his campaign manager, (Vern Butler, of Boston, Frank E. Stearns of Boston, and the attorney general himself.
The attorney general had another conference with President Coolidge this morning.

Whole Situation Discussed
It is understood the whole situation was gone over "very frankly" last night and that Mr. Butler inclined to the belief that the attorney general's retirement would lift a political load from President Coolidge's shoulders, coinciding in this respect with the opinion held generally by senators at the capital—particularly those who, like Senator Borah are up for re-election next November.

The attorney general was said to have been unshaken in his opposition to voluntary retirement while "under fire" and before he has had an opportunity of presenting his defense to the charges, although pointing out as he has done previously, that his resignation can be had merely for the asking by President Coolidge.

It was suggested to Daugherty that he could resign and at the same time defend himself by doing as Denby did—set his retirement at a date sufficiently ahead to allow plenty of time for a senatorial committee proposed in the Wheeler resolution. This would quell the clamor for his resignation, and at the same time, allow him to retire with some dignity.

To this suggestion, the attorney general is understood to have told the president and Mr. Butler that his retirement will simply mean the Democrats in the senate will center their attack on still another member of President Coolidge's official family.
He pointed out that Senator Heflin on the floor of the senate yesterday, declared that "Mellon and Weeks were next."

GRAND JURY GETS UNDER WAY TODAY

Jurors Meeting In Special Session; May Conclude Work Today.

Lisbon, Feb. 27.—The special session of the grand jury got under way at 10 a. m. Wednesday and there was slight indication at noon that the work of the jury might be completed before evening.

The jury is composed of Charles W.
Pilgrim, East Liverpool, foreman;
Frank Betz, Leontonia; Van J. Morris,
Signal; James Windel, Columbiana;
George F. McCready, Wellsville;
Benjamin Snyder, Salem; Martin People, Leontonia; Harvey Mason, Blair Allison, J. C. Richardson, S. E. Morledge, William Whitacre, William Mitchell and J. C. Baxter, all of Lisbon.

Those cases now pending wherein defendants are held in the county jail in default of bond were to be considered at this session, it is said.

20 YEARS AGO

Forty years ago the negroes of the south did not own a square foot of ground nor a roof to cover them. Now there are 126,000 farms owned by negroes, valued at $25,000,000; 159,000 homes outside the farm townships valued at $265,000,000 and personal property valued at $165,000,000.

Cattle Raising Lags on American Farms

While the number of cattle raised in the United States has been maintained at a comparatively high level, says the National Bank of Commerce of Chicago, in a recent survey of the live stock industry, it has by no means kept pace with the increase in population. However, it is said, after a few years of continuous cultivation even virgin soil loses its power to produce abundant crops. As a means of maintaining soil fertility, the live stock industry is of fundamental importance to permanent agriculture, and as the bank points out, is widely practiced in the corn belt, where grain, especially corn, is marketed in the form of live stock. "Maintenance of soil productivity is so important to the farmer," continues the bank, "that it is an item to include in determining net profit derived from raising and fattening cattle."

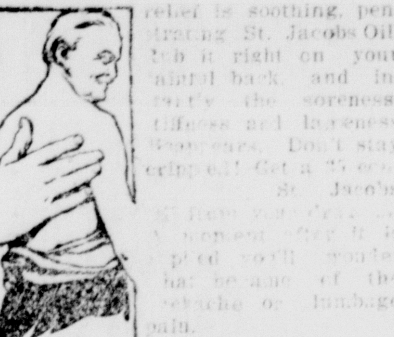

"It is estimated that 85 per cent of the corn produced in the United States is fed to live stock and 15 per cent is fed to cattle. Approximately 85 per cent of the native beef steers marketed in Chicago are fattened after having been purchased as stockers and feeders. Possibilities of further developing the beef cattle industry in this country are indicated by a recent survey by the Department of Agriculture, which indicates that beef cattle are kept only on 29 per cent of all farms in the United States."

The survey mentions the increased activity by American consumers of leather as being partly offset by decreased consumption in Europe, and says: "However, it has not been sufficient to cause prices of cattle hides and calf skins to advance permanently in proportion to the rise in the general price level of commodities."

Goose Had Viking Gold

According to a Reuter dispatch from Bergen, a small boy, living at Rogaland, Norway, was recently the hero of an adventure which reads like a fairy story.

The youngster had driven a flock of geese to the village pond and was on the point of herding them back to his father's farm when he noticed a glint of gold in the beak of one of the birds. He caught the goose and removed from its crop a beautiful bunch of very curious design. This he took to the conservator of the Stavanger museum, who pronounced it an unusually rare and beautiful specimen of the goldsmith's art, dating, he declared, from the era of the Vikings.

Of Course

The youthful bugler wore a proud smile as he turned out on parade for the first time. He was accosted by an officer and asked if he knew all the bugle calls.

"Not all, perhaps, sir," he admitted, modestly, "but I know most of them."

"Well, now," continued the officer, "what would you do in case of fire?"

"Blow the call for lights out, sir,"—Los Angeles Times.

Blames Thackeray

J. L. thinks that Thackeray started one of the slang expressions we use today and by way of proof quotes as follows: "How are you, Sedley?" asked a character in "Vanity Fair." "There's a lackey coachman downstairs . . . vowing he'll have the law on you."

"What do you mean, law?" Sedley faintly asked.—Boston Transcript.

Havana Motorists Keep Cars in Front Halls

There are many strange sights for the tourist to see in Havana, but perhaps one of the most surprising comes when he visits a Cuban home and sees the family automobile in the front hallway.

In all of downtown Havana, with its population of some 400,000, space is at a premium. Streets are narrow and houses are joined together and are flush with the sidewalk. When the automobile came along many families who could afford one did not feel able to pay garage rent, or did not care to have their machine kept blocks or even miles away.

Practically all of the front entrances have wide double doors, and so the cars found parking space indoors, usually near the staircase. They can be seen in scores of homes, but the oil cans, extra tires and greasy cloths usually found in an American garage are tucked away out of sight.

For small apartments there has been invented a gas stove fitted with a cover for use as a table and the whole device can be folded back against a wall when idle.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and clean, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Not Chivalrous

A CHICAGO newspaper, commenting on the tremendous increase in the consumption of cigars, says: "Mildred is smoking more cigars." Indeed, this paper practically charges "mildred" with smoking during the year 1923 more than seven billion cigars. While it is true that ladies are smoking cigars today in larger numbers than ever before, it is very doubtful whether they smoked seven billion cigars last year.

Increase in consumption of cigars as well as in consumption of everything else has to be accounted for in a more comprehensive manner. Consumption depends on increase of population, in the first place. Then consumption of one article increases as that of other articles decrease. Fewer cigars were smoked in 1923 than in the previous year. Again, there was larger exportation of all tobacco products in 1923 than in 1922.

If all statistics were given careful consideration it would be very doubtful whether the actual increase in the home consumption of cigars has been as large as it appears to be. Under such circumstances it is unfair to charge any considerable increase of consumption to "mildred."

Crime has long since been outlawed in this country, but every city and community maintain a police force to protect society from criminals. It is desirable to outlaw all wars, but that will not prevent war unless every nation in the world observes the golden rule at all times. A defenseless nation is not immune from being attacked.

It is no more difficult to live down a bad reputation than to live up to a good one.

TRANSFER 40 MEN TO PRISON FARM

State Pen Crowded, Warden Says He Wants More Hogs, Less Hell.

Columbus, Feb. 27. — Explaining a sudden transfer today of 40 prisoners to the London prison farm, Warden Thomas of the penitentiary said, "I want more hogs and less hell."

The warden said the penitentiary is too small to accommodate the recent population of 2,576 reaching Tuesday, ten men already occupying each of the 500 cells and a 1 available space being used for cots, 112 prisoners have been admitted, an excess of two over January.

The transferred "honor men" who will work on the London farm, are serving terms for violating the parole law. There are 700 prisoners in the "idle house," Thomas urged that another brick plant and an ammunition plant be built to give prisoners work.

Men do not become eligible quickly enough for parole," said Price, Kussell, chairman of the parole board, and we must endure the overcrowded condition of the penitentiary."

Monument to Fabre.
A committee headed by General de Castelnau, and including leading educators and officials of the French department of Aveyron, is arranging for the erection of a statue to Jean Henri Fabre, who wrote books about insects that were more interesting than romances. The monument, now being executed by the sculptor Malet, will be placed on the central square of Saint Leons, the village where Fabre spent his childhood. The committee considered this peaceful spot the most appropriate for a statue of the "nobles and curious son of Aveyron."

How Silver in India Helped to Win the War

Silver fought another good fight in the World War. In 1918 the allied armies were battling desperately. Every available man was on the fighting line. One of the things the allies needed most was jute; gunny sacking is another name for jute. There is only one place in the world to get jute—India. Patiently the British government had taught the natives that silver certificates were as good as silver, but by 1918 the British government, by jute purchases, had withdrawn nearly all the silver used to back these certificates, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. Germany learned this and began propaganda in India. A run on Indian banks would have destroyed the confidence of the natives in Britain and thrown India into revolt.

Silver must be found somewhere to save India, and possibly to save the allies. Supplies of mined silver had been exhausted. There was only one big source of silver, the vaults of the United States treasury. Here great piles of silver dollars backed our silver certificates. Britain asked for that silver. The United States sold it gladly. More than 400,000,000 of silver dollars were melted and sent to India, later to be replaced in the vaults by new purchases through the Pittman silver act. That's how silver helped win the war.

Intuition of Woman Is Swifter Than Is Man's

Sir Humphrey Rolleston, president of the British Royal College of Surgeons, verifies the observation that in women instinct is highly developed, says a London letter in the New York Evening Post.

"Women," declared Sir Humphrey the other day, "have in a more developed degree than men the power of rapid perception or intuition, allied to second sight and clairvoyance, or of arriving at a correct solution of a problem per saltum. Apart from its potential use and application in research, this faculty of arriving immediately at a correct opinion, without the process of conscious ratiocination, resembles the clinical instinct born of long years of experience, and is no doubt a function of the unconscious which is so infallible in diagnosis. Hospital sisters often have this power, and when re-enforced by a more extensive training, it should be an asset to woman doctors."

While the average woman student was superior to the average man, the best woman students were not so able as the best men.

Many Use Metric System

The metric system of measurement was originated in 1790 by James Watt, the noted English inventor. One of the first nations to adopt this system was France during the French Revolution. Lavoisier, the great French chemist, was the principal influence for its adoption. Today every civilized nation in the world, except the United States and Great Britain, has adopted the metric system. These two English-speaking nations now wrestle with a jumble of other systems, hence a strong demand that the world centralize on one popular system—the metric.

They Meant Business

A man slipped on a banana peel and executed a very funny fall, not being hurt, as it turned out, but having his dignity somewhat ruffled. When he recovered a moment later a friend was holding his hat and a number of people had formed a circle.

"What do these idlers want?" he snarled.

"They are not idlers," explained his friend soothingly. "Here's a doctor who wants to look you over, a lawyer ready to bring suit for you and a producer of comic films who would like to sign you up."

Purely Ornamental

British Consul General Armstrong was talking at a New York reception about the popularity of the prince of Wales.

"When the prince," he said, "visits Balmoral, the royal estate in Scotland, he always wears the kilt. Two pretty lassies passed him on the road one day.

"Did you see his knees?" said one of the lassies afterward. "They were as pink and dimpled as a baby's. I wanted to kiss them, so I did."

"Hoot," said the other lassie; "they didn't look as if he prayed much."

Plenty of Capital.
"What would you like for your birthday?" asked mother.

"I want a small auto, a big doll, skates and candy."

"Why, I haven't got so much money to buy so many things."

Norma replied: "That's nothing. Papa's got a check book. There are a lot of pages in the book yet. We don't need money."

That Was That.
They had quarreled.

"Here are your letters," said the girl, "and here is your ring."

"Give me back my kisses," demanded the youth.

And that ended the quarrel.

Not Wanted There.
"Do you know," said the conceited actress, "that I was offered $4,000 a week to remain in New York?"

"Indeed?" remarked the candid listener. "And was the offer made from Boston?"—Boston Transcript.

WANT AMENDMENT TO PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARY MEASURE

Ohio Law Providing Second Choice Declared To Be Dead Letter.

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—An anomaly in the present Ohio presidential primary law, which has attracted nationwide attention, will be called to attention of the legislature next winter, in an effort to either amend it or make it work as the framers designed.

The provision in the presidential preference primary law, whereby candidates for delegates must designate their first and second choice for the presidential nomination of their party, has become a dead letter. In fact it has been a dead letter since its inception according to political authorities.

Under its provisions there are now eight candidates in the field for the favor of the voters at the primary election April 29. President Calvin Coolidge and Senator Hiram W. Johnson are contending for the Republican nomination. James M. Cox and Wm. G. McAdoo are rivals for Democratic favor.

However, there are four additional candidates—two Democrats and two Republicans—who have been designated as "second choices." These men are all Ohioans. Ex-Gov. James E. Campbell of Columbus, has been named as the "second choice" of the supporters of Mr. Cox; James A. Rice of Canton, has a similar honor so far as the McAdoo candidacy is concerned, while Arthur L. Garford, Elvira manufacturer, is the "second choice" of the Coolidge forces and John D. Eickler of Cleveland, those of Johnson.

"Seconds" Get No Votes
A politician with a nose for statistics went back over the presidential primaries held since the present law went into effect in the first administration of Gov. Cox and said that never in the history of the law has a man who has been named as a "second choice" received a vote in the presidential convention although there has been an occasion when the first choice was eliminated.

In 1916 the law was effective for the first time. Theodore E. Burton, now congressman, then a former senator, was named as the first choice of the Republican delegates, while Gen. J. Warren Keifer, of Springfield, was designated as second choice. Burton was out of the picture early, but no Ohio delegate supported Keifer for the nomination.

In 1920 when President Harding was named Gen. Keifer was again given "second choice" mention. However, Ohio was more fortunate that year and those pledged to their second choice man were not called upon to vote.

In the Democratic primaries, ex-Gov. Campbell was the "second choice" of the solid delegation in 1916, when President Wilson received the support of the delegates, and he was again so designated in 1920, when Gov. Cox, the first choice of Ohio, was named.

The law regarding "second choices," it was said, "has been made a dead letter. The intention of its framers was to have candidates for delegates make a selection among men who had been named prominently in connection with the nomination, the thought being that every man would have between leading candidates—both a first and second choice. Instead, men, leaders or former leaders of the party in the state it is true, have been chosen by the active candidates to more closely tie the delegates, and prevent encroachments of other candidates."

Klan Headquarters Removed To Lisbon

Headquarters of the Ku Klux Klan are to be removed from East Liverpool to Lisbon, according to a statement made by the major of the Lisbon Klan unit Tuesday night.

The Klan also proposes to hold a county meeting in Lisbon during the spring for the purpose of endorsing a political ticket. It is said this meeting will be made up of two Republicans and two Democrats from each Klan unit in the county.

Many great enterprises begin in a small way. Many a successful advertiser has begun by using classified advertisement in a modest way. These brought good returns, which enabled the business to be developed, and eventually large advertisements were profitably used. ## SECRET MESSAGES TO McLEAN BARED BY SENATE PROBE

Telegrams From Secretary Kept Him Advised Of Investigation.

Washington, Feb. 27.—Secret messages which passed by telegraph between Washington and Palm Beach, Fla., for E. B. McLean, Washington publisher and former Secretary of the Interior, Albert B. Fall, were made public by the senate public lands committee after they had been obtained under protest from the telegraph companies.

Before the telegrams were read into the record of the committee, a release investigation they were read by members of the committee to segregate those which had a bearing on the inquiry.

The first message read told of arrangements for installation of a leased wire between Palm Beach and McLean's papers, The Washington Post and The Cincinnati Enquirer. It was sent by John Major, confidential employee of McLean, and declared the wire would keep McLean "in touch with the congressional situation."

Another wire said not "to send a message to chairman of committee (Lienhart)." "I think everything well by hand." It also related that Harry F. Sinclair was to testify the next day and that he "will refuse to tell about his personal affairs."

A. Mitchell Palmer, former attorney general, was mentioned frequently in the wires sent by Major, in connection with the developments before the committee.

"Will deliver message to McAdoo and Palmer as you requested" said another wire.

Major also told of arrangements for Fall to go to Palm Beach.

Throughout these telegrams read into the proceedings a note of anxiety over the probability of McLean being called before the investigating committee.

Flea Critics Terrify, Says Samuel C. Blythe

The flea government critic jumps about and asserts its flea view that unless we reform our state to meet with the flea momentary flea view the state must perish, says Samuel C. Blythe in McNaught's Monthly.

The flea religious critic has entire moral disintegration just around the corner unless flea precepts are heeded. The flea literary critic consigns us to literary unless our literature conforms to his flea standard. The flea conservator of our morals has us all sunk in lades unless his standards are observed.

And so with the flea political critic, the flea economic critic, the flea social critic, so with all the fleas. Adopt the flea view or be eternally doomed and damned. No flea was ever wrong. In deadness there is salvation.

Curiously enough, we allow the fleas to annoy us. The idea of taking a flea seriously is preposterous, but we do take them seriously. Thus showing one of two things: Either we are too thin-skinned for our habitat, or we have lost our sense of proportion.

For example, when an English flea, say, comes over and bites at us, we shrink from his bitings as if that particular flea was a saber-toothed tiger instead of the flea he is. When a foreign flea invades us we hurry out our defenses instead of pointing out that a flea is all the invader is. And so with our domestic fleas. We, the most powerful nation in the world, squirm and shiver before our fleas instead of cracking them on our national thumb-nail. The fleas have us terrified. We fear their fleabotony.

Merely Signing Names Business of One Firm

There is a firm doing business in the heart of the financial district of New York city which the high officials of many banks and large corporations would sadly miss should it suspend operations. What it supplies in the way of automatic assistance in lifting the burden of over and over again writing the "John Hancock" of this and that and the other official upon checks, stock certificates or bonds makes possible a saving of time that sends innumerable desk weary business men to their needed daily recreation upon the golf links, yachts and motor boats or in summer to the baseball parks in time for the first inning, says a New York letter to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Because of the peculiarly confidential relationships existing with customers, the firm is not after publicity. Nevertheless, the fame of the institution has spread until it is a common thing in Wall street to hear one of the officials say to another: "I sent those debentures over to be signed and expect them back very soon now."

The machines that perform the work have a capacity for 20 signatures at a time. Whatever has to be signed in duplicate is arranged by trained clerks.

Choice of Sacrifices

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "I do wish I had some money to give you for Christmas dinners for poor children."

Her mother, wishing to teach her the lesson of self-sacrifice, said: "Very well, dear, if you would like to go without sugar for a week I'll give you the money instead, and then you will have some."

The little one considered solemnly for a moment and then said: "Must I be sugar, ma?"

"Why, no, darling, not necessarily. What would you like to do without?"

"Soup, mamma," was Elsie's answer.—Boston Transcript.

HARRISON TAKES WITNESS STAND

Columbus, Feb. 27.—Attorney Dwight Harrison, Columbus, former vice president of the defunct R. L. Dollings Company of Ohio, will take the witness stand late today in the joint trial before Federal Judge Sater of himself and William G. Benham, former Dollings president, charged with misuse of the mails.

Benham completed his testimony and cross-examination this morning, and attorneys for the defense then began reading descriptive matter bearing upon photographs in 23 books, of approximately 30 pictures each, which refer to subsidiary plants and industries of the Dollings company.

COAL LAND SCANDAL SEEN BY PINCHOT

New York, Feb. 27.—Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania, who is resting in a private sanatorium, has today declared in an interview that coal land scandal in Alaska would overshadow the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

"The oil scandal," he said, "is simply an effort on the part of the opposition to break through the conservation policies established by Roosevelt."

Owing to illness, Rev. Mr. Tilton of Lisbon was unable to preach at the revival service Tuesday evening at the M. E. church.

It is said the attendance and interest in the services are increasing.

REVEALS DANGERS

The government would be forced to take them over as it did during the war.

Three groups are interested in this problem, he said—the railroad employees, the public and the politicians.

The employees would gain an increase in wages, he said, but under government ownership they would soon be curtailed and their opportunities limited, as is the case with all governmental employees.

The public would gain a decrease in freight rates, but as one million dollars a day in taxes must be paid, it would reap no benefit. And it would get poor service.

The politicians would gain a machine composed of 2,000,000 men working on the railroads, with which they could control elections.

Many Visitors
There are the possibilities of government ownership of railroads, he said as he emphasized the fact that we are striking away from the constitution with its protection of individual rights.

Accompanying Mr. Parsons on the special train were about 17 men and 15 others from the Youngstown Rotary club came in autos to be guests of the Salem club. R. S. McCullough of Salem and Ray Brenner for Youngstown led in group singing at this interesting session, which had been arranged by W. H. Dunn, chairman of the entertainment committee.

The club elected W. H. Matthews and Atty. Joel Sharp as Salem's representatives in the Ohio Society for Crippled Children.

Next Tuesday this club will meet promptly at 12 o'clock for lunch and nomination of officers. Then the Rotarians will go to the High school auditorium where High school students will be their guests at the showing of a motion picture entitled, "The Road to Success."

GIRL IS MISSING, FEAR KIDNAPPING

Search For "Perfect" Girl Continues All Night In Cleveland.

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—Fear that Georgianna Hobson, eight, missing from her home on the West Side since 4 o'clock yesterday evening, had been kidnapped or murdered were expressed by police today after an all night search had failed to give the slightest clue to her whereabouts.

Georgianna, who won the Michigan prize as a "perfect baby" at the age of three years, left her home about 5:30 last night to play with another little girl three blocks distant. They were together only a short time, and parted about 6 o'clock. Since that time Georgianna has not been seen so far as police could learn.

Police Chief Jacob S. Grant, after sending out a general order containing a description of the missing girl, assigned two detectives to aid in the search. Patrolmen last night and today searched vacant houses of the West Side, garages and other buildings, without finding the slightest clue.

Mrs. George Hobson, the mother, almost distracted with grief said the family had no enemies. The father, a lake boat engineer, did not learn of his daughter's absence until he returned home this morning after a night on duty.

LONGWORTH SEEKS

erratic plan of income tax revision will remain in the bill as it goes to the senate.

Other provisions of the bill added in the house to the measure as it came from the Republican members of the ways and means committee stand little chance of being defeated. These include the gift taxes and the inheritance tax increases. The house majorities for ratification of these changes were substantial. Contests over an excess profits tax, a tax-exempt securities income tax, a tax stock dividend tax, cannot be resumed in the house.

Revision of the automobile taxes will be taken up when the house meets tomorrow with a lively struggle in sight. Congressman McLaughlin, Republican, Michigan, is leading this fight with a demand for a reduction from 5 per cent to 2½ per cent of taxes on two ton trucks or less on tires, repair parts and accessories. This tax reduction has strong support in the house.

Two important provisions of the bill, the creation of a board of tax appeals and a 25 per cent reduction of income taxes for last year payable during the present year, remain to be considered by the house. There is some objection to board of tax appeals but none to the flat 25 per cent tax cut in the next tax payments.

STOCKS

TRADING IS IRREGULAR
New York, Feb. 27.—Trading was somewhat irregular in the forenoon session of the stock exchange today. Renewed bullish efforts met with indifferent success.

Copper shares were again heavily sold in further reflection of the passing of Anaconda's dividend. Anaconda after dropping to below 53, a new low for the year rose to 53 3/4 for a fractional loss.

Railroads held generally steady. Stocks were generally heavy. Stocks were steady. A 4 1/2 point decline to 64 took place in Cast Iron Pipe common in response to the decision of the court of chancery in Newark, enjoining the board of directors from declaring any dividends on the common until all accumulated dividends on the preferred have been paid up. This decision caused a 4 point rise to 59 in the preferred stock.

could have done better. It marked the zenith in presentation. As an encore "Little Boy Blue" was given, and enjoyed thoroughly by Mr. Filson's admirers.

The four last songs, perhaps more popular than some of the rest, were among his best, "Pleading," "Duna," "The Bird in The Wilderness," and "Roadways."

Mrs. Patterson's four solos stamp d her easily as one of the finest pianists that have ever appeared on a concert stage here. Her technique is perfect, her rendition masterly. From the soft low tones in the Polonaise to the stirring Campiella, her encore, the note picture she presented was wonderful.

Mr. Filson's powerful baritone voice, soft, clear, penetrated every corner of the auditorium. Not too much praise can be given him. It was a work of art, high class musical art, and those who were fortunate to hear him, and Mrs. Patterson, are heaping much praise on both.

The American Legion, under whose auspices the concert was given, is given great credit for bringing to the lovers of music in Salem such a splendid treat.

South African Women Wear Smart Millinery

An interesting word picture of millinery modes in South Africa is given in a bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America by Miss Amy Adams. Among other things, she tells of the use of ostrich feathers by "smart" women there, some of these plumes running nearly a yard in length.

"Milliners in Cape Town and Kimberly make most attractive displays," she writes. "They also take the greatest possible pains to suit the features of their clientele, and build the hats accordingly. No one seems to wear a home-made hat, as there is no attempt to instruct the amateur to make her own chapeaux. The result is that the 'tout ensemble' of an afternoon gathering is surprisingly smart."

"Shapes are identical under the shadow of Table Mountain with those worn in New York, but they seem more lightly wired and of a softer framework. Just now, in the height of their summer, very light colors are in vogue. These are usually faced with dark silk, or even velvet, which serves to give a little shade in the glaring sunshine."

"The South Africans believe in supporting home industries, so that really magnificent ostrich plumes, at least 34 inches long, adorn the more 'dressed' hats. They circle the crown completely and drop down the right side. Each flue and tip of these plumes must be perfect and the long blades sewed or arranged by a master hand. No apprentice can manage them. With specially designed hats nothing can achieve more flattery than the white plume which is so popular. Horse-hair or very light weight straw is the material of their foundation."

Scientists Use Colors to Combat Insect's

Men of science over Cambridge way in England put their heads together and then take time out to announce to a pestered world that mosquitoes favor navy blue above 16 other colors. Reporting further on the effect of colors, the scientists say that mosquitoes are unanimous in their aversion to yellow, and that they slum light blue almost to a mosquito. One observer says that house flies are indifferent to colors; another is positive that flies avoid pale blue and settle freely on white. A sense of color and a sense of smell are possessed by many kinds of insects, notably bees and butterflies, according to Darwin, Lubbock and other naturalists of the last century.

Just as we were dazzled with the idea of baffling the stings and arrows of outrageous insects by the trickiness of our apparel, or maybe even riding the earth of the busy boll weevil by some smelly lure, along comes the esteemed Engineering Foundation with a dissertation on combating mosquitoes by means of fishes, especially young ones. The most useful species for that service, so the announcement of the Foundation says, are the common sunfish, the mud minnow, and the killifish. Competition and struggle for existence in the mimic world. The minnow plays Goliath to the mosquito's David. Lay on Maesquito—and d—d be Goliath if he cries "Hold! Enough!" A sting may end a sting. Watch your fins, Mr. Killifish.

Guarding Our Animals

The vigilance of the United States Department of Agriculture was impressed upon Thomas A. Pife, of Mishawaka, Ind., when two deer shipped to him from Canada were recently held up in Detroit by a United States government veterinary inspector for the lack of a certificate from a Canadian official veterinarian. Government regulations covering such shipment require that the animals be accompanied by a certificate stating that the area from which they come is free from contagious diseases and has been so for a period of 60 days immediately preceding the importation. The certificate must be signed by a veterinarian of the Canadian government.

Predicted Power by Radio

Dr. C. P. Steinmetz, whose development of electrical science brought him to a place of eminence in the scientific world, said shortly before his death that those adults of today who lived to a ripe old age would see electric power transmitted by radio over a distance as far as from Chicago to Canton, China. He emphasized the word "power" and said much of the world's work would be done by radio when it was fully developed.

All the Same

Stinkins considered himself a humorist. He sent a selection of his original jokes to the editor of a newspaper and confidently awaited a check. His excitement ran high when he received a letter, obviously from the newspaper office.

He opened it with feverish haste. There was no check, however, just a small note saying:

"Dear Sir—Your jokes received. Some we have seen before; some we have not seen yet."

Might Be Elsewhere

"I knew your daughter was keen on classical music, but that's a popular song she's singing, isn't it?" "Not in this house," was the gloomy reply.

Travel Inducement

American—I suppose your son's thirst after knowledge led him to travel in Europe this winter?
Second American—No; merely his thirst.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON V

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman.

Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Why does not the banker pay across as high interest on their money as he charges borrowers when he loans them that same money? Text books say he must charge more than he pays so as to meet overhead expenses, his unavoidable losses, and dividends.

J. H. Puelicher

OVERHEAD EXPENSES = cost and maintenance of the bank building, with costly equipment, such as steel vaults, so the depositors' money will be safe; light, heat, supplies, fire and theft insurance; taxes; and salaries to men and women employees of honesty and ability.

UNAVOIDABLE LOSSES = occasional unpaid loans made to those who have the misfortune to fail in business. Although bankers exercise great caution and are experts in judging business conditions and character, they sometimes have such losses. These must be met out of the gross profits from interest charged borrowers above that paid depositors—as fire insurance companies meet losses out of reserve funds created by careful investment of premiums.

DIVIDENDS = money divided among stockholders out of clear profits left over after overhead, losses and all other interests of the depositors have been fully taken care of.

Thus bankers pay depositors less interest on their savings than they charge the borrowers of those savings so that they can earn funds to meet the expenses of rendering efficient, careful and valuable services to the depositors.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ABOUT THE HOUSE MONEY

Aunt Emmy found Molly crying as if her heart would break.

"What's the matter, Molly dear?" she asked, patting the bride's shoulder.

"Oh, Aunt Emmy, it's that horrid money. The household money is gone again, and I don't know where it went. I can't tell Ted, and yet I can't finish out the week. And I was going to save some every week, too!" she wailed.

"So that's it! Certainly does beat all how silly people are about money. Now stop crying, Molly, and tell me how much you are short this week."

"Ten dollars," sobbed Molly.

"Dry your eyes and come out with me," comforted Aunt Emmy. "Every thing will be all right. The bank is soliciting small accounts. I noticed they have thrift accounts, too—"

"I don't care," sobbed Molly. "I can't have a bank account. No money."

"You are going to open both a household checking account and a thrift account. A thrift account can be opened with one dollar, and you must put aside a certain sum every week. You should save two dollars each week. Money that you once get your hands on is mighty hard to save, so when we go to the bank we will ask them to take two dollars out of your weekly household money deposit and put it in your thrift account. The thrift account will pay interest."

"But how can I keep my bankbook straight?" sighed Molly.

"You can add and subtract, can't you?" snapped Aunt Emmy. "You went to school, you know, and the bank will be glad to show you at first. Come on, Molly, let's be going."

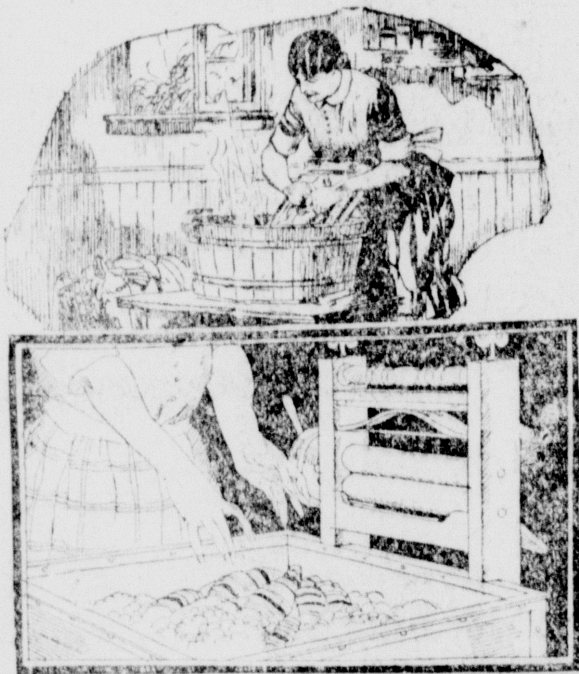

At the bank Aunt Emmy gave Molly a check to start her account. "You can give this back to me at the end of the year, Molly. You can save it easily. Never buy by telephone. See everything for yourself. Keep accurate accounts, pay your bills promptly and don't carry money around with you."

When they came out of the bank Molly was the proud possessor of two pass books and a check book.

"I've always been afraid of banks," said Molly, "but I didn't know people in them could be so friendly. And besides getting things down in black and white this way will make it a lot easier to keep them straight. I just know it will!"

Aunt Emmy smiled knowingly.

ANNE B. AYMES.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS

Ate Soup Too Loudly to Suit the Police

One has to be careful in New York, a waiter, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. The police said he was too loud and boisterous while eating soup.

Hirschman said he wasn't disorderly, that was the way he always ate soup. He was sent to jail, but he couldn't help it. He did make a noise while soup eating.

Once again the court was lenient. He was discharged with the warning that he had better not eat soup at home and take other courses in restaurants.

New York Letter to the Detroit News.

Ohio Days Fort St. Clair

With a $25,000 appropriation of $15,000 for the purpose, the state of Ohio has proclaimed a state park the site of Fort St. Clair, Indian battle ground, a mile west of Eaton. Fort St. Clair was one of the important forts of the Northwest Territory. Indians under Little Turtle and whites under command of Capt. John Adair on November 2, 1792, battled with disastrous results to the palefaces. The Preble County Historical society has erected a seven-ton Preble county boulder, with bronze tablet, at the fort to the memory of those who fell there in battle more than a century and a quarter ago.

Not Like Enoch Arden

"Frank Henbenny always was a contrary cuss," remarked Toke Sagg of Sandy Mush. "After he'd been married about three years he left home without any reason that anybody knew of. After a spell his wife married again, and then a while later he came back and proved he'd never been dead at all. His wife got a divorce from her second husband, and was all ready to marry Hank again when he just simply up and died without telling anybody what he was aiming to do."

Deuce of a Question.

A master in a large school called upon Smith, who stutters, to parse the sentence: "The propensity of the porcupine made pot-shooting at the hippopotamus virtually impossible."

Smith gave a wild glance around the room and said: "P-p-p-professor, how ain't it that a deuce of a question to ask me?"

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

A Firm Foundation.

"There is nobody who does not hold the Constitution in the deepest respect." "True," replied Senator Sorghum. "Even those who never studied it very closely have to admit that it has been the basis of some mighty interesting and important amendments."

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold apply a little pure, antiseptic germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief. How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, sniffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it waxes, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't stay gray. Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wash's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it's natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger.

Desert Hero Learned Marriage Was Subduing

Mrs. Rosita Forbes, English traveler, who recently paid a visit in his native haunts to Raisuli, Morocco's bandit chief, who died recently, relates in the New York Times a story concerning the way a desert Romeo was tamed, and how he was made wise in the taming.

The Romeo, a big, strong and handsome tribesman, rode better, shot better and was just about a better man all around than his fellows, when one day the sheriff, Raisuli, thought he would confer a favor upon him in recognition of his prowess. The sheriff asked him what he desired.

"Marry me," implored the Romeo, "marry me."

Raisuli looked about for a suitable wife, and found one, a desert maiden of fine form and face. The wedding took place with a great to-do. But, thereafter, the man changed his ways. He stuck to his tent. He quit displaying his abilities altogether. Idly around his home he sat, and his fellows wondered. Then one day a spirited horse, one of the finest belonging to the tribe, got loose. Men started after it, and the animal passed by Romeo's tent.

The pursuers were expending a lot of effort with no result. Puffing and panting, they came upon the newlywed at his tent.

"What shall we do, what shall we do?" they shouted, as the stallion hoofed it swiftly away.

"Marry him," answered the forlorn Romeo, "marry him."

Ship Has Rooms for Pets From the Tropics

The high mortality in living souvenirs collected annually by American tourists cruising the West Indies has led to many unique methods for their preservation.

Special quarters have been constructed on a steamship for the care of monkeys, parrots and other tropical pets. Rows of small houses, electrically heated to the temperature of the country from which each animal pet came, are in charge of a marine janitor whose duty is to see that the fixed temperature is maintained and his charges receive their proper tropical fodder.

The owners of the ships decided that a dollar a day for each monkey or parrot house shall be the maximum charge, including heat, janitor service and food.

The question of caring for the souvenirs collected on cruises by Americans is growing in importance. On a world cruise it is not unusual for the 400 passengers to accumulate five or six tons of mementos, including many articles of value from the standpoint of dollars and cents.

Fate in Strange Career

The Paris courts report one of the most curious series of incidents yet laid before legal students in the case of a Paris woman who on the occasion of two previous weddings had lost her husband in an auto accident while on the way home from the wedding ceremony. She recently married a third time and as the bridal car was speeding home it collided with a vehicle and the third husband was killed in a manner almost identical with the fate of the first two. The courts took cognizance of the series of strange mishaps, because in the case of the second husband's death the woman asked damages.

Both Guessing

A well-known artist whose picture of a group of angels had created a sensation came across a pavement artist. "I am so-and-so," he said. "I painted the picture of the angels of which everyone is talking. Your work shows promise; but what is that fish you are drawing?"

"A sturgeon, sir," replied the man.

"But have you ever seen a sturgeon?"

That's What It Meant

"Is your father at home, dear?" Punch says a lady asked when the doctor's little daughter answered the door bell.

"No, he isn't," answered the child. "He's out giving an anaesthetic."

"Oh, what a big word!" cried the lady playfully. "Do you know what it means?"

"It means ten dollars," replied the little girl.

Couldn't Answer

The villager sent a note to the doctor, saying: "Please send me some fizzle for a headache."

Next time they met the doctor said, "F-i-z-z-e doesn't spell physic, you know."

"Well, what does it spell, then?" asked the villager.

The doctor gave it up.

Electric Locomotive Speed

Insects In Ohio Get Tenth Of Farm Crops, Entomologist Claims

Ten per cent of Ohio's farm products, in common with most other states in the union, loses each year to the upkeep of insect pests instead of to human beings and livestock.

This statement, based on careful estimates by competent authorities and on crop reports and actual reports of insect damage for two years, is made by George A. Dean, entomologist in charge of cereal and forage insect investigations, and the federal department of agriculture. "Instead of diminishing with the marvelous development of American agriculture," says Mr. Dean, "injuries insects have become more numerous and more destructive, and in no country in the world do they cause greater losses to farm crops than in the United States."

"The importance of proper cultural methods in the control of insect pests has perhaps never been adequately realized. When it is understood that possibly 95 per cent of insects spend some portion of their life history in the soil it will be realized that the aim of proper cultural methods should be not only to secure good crops, but also to make conditions as unfavorable as possible for the particular insect pests which are likely to attack crops."

"Good farming methods to defeat the insect pests involve looking ahead in planning rotations, clean cultivation, selection of paces, time of planting, time of harvesting, burning, plowing, fertilizing, use of crops, selection of well-bred and clean seed and thorough preparation of the seed bed."

SPRING COMING SOON TO CAPITAL

JUST ACROSS THE POTOMAC IN VIRGINIA THE SIGNS ARE TO BE HEARD AND SEEN.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Oil, politics and legislation, and a sort of general drabness of things, are in the city of Washington, while across the river in the state of Virginia there are in these February days the first signs of spring.

Rumor that the advance guard of spring had come to the other side of the Potomac was seductive enough to draw one away from the post of observation of what some may call the high matters of state. It is true that, barring a few buds on bushes lucky enough to have a southern exposure, there are as yet few plant or floral symptoms of the advent of the days of springing things, but nevertheless, spring is in the air in this Potomac country in mid-February.

From the long bridge, over the Potomac there is a sweeping view of the river now somewhat swollen, making its way bayward. Along the shore and here and there on the bars there are congregations of crows, and with them an occasional herring gull disputing foothold possession with the members of the corvus tribe, and occasionally seeming ready to begin actual hostilities over some choice morsel of food.

Bird Voices in the Swamps.

In the swamps of Virginia a dozen voices proclaim that spring has come, even if the owners of the voices are showing too much optimism, for spring has a habit of coming in this land and then suddenly leaving. The song sparrows make themselves heard above their fellows, for they are stronger in numbers and are the more musical. The tree sparrow is here with the top of his head as red as the maple buds will be a week hence. He plays a minor instrument, but in its tone is something of the joy of knowledge that February has come and the Canadian fields are now not far away.

A cardinal calls from a thicket. This Virginia nightingale can put the other songs to silence if it wishes to use its throat, but the cardinal is a resident here with no migratory yearnings, and knowing something of the treachery of February, he chooses to postpone his louder whistlings until March.

Bird students know that the song sparrow's note does not prove that spring has a foothold which cannot be dislodged, but there is one voice in the marshes which will settle matters and make it definite that spring has come, though it will not do so, probably, for ten days to come. The frog has what is intended to be a spring poem forming in his throat. When it is ready for the piping, spring will have come.

Already the soft maple buds are swelling and glowing just a little. In the thickets at the edge of the waters beneath the maples are fox sparrows and juncos, while on the hillside near at hand are the ever-present crows, hoarse voiced and impudent with full knowledge of the fact that those who are watching them carry no guns.

On Robb's Point.

Not far across the Potomac is a peninsula known as Robb's Point. It separates the waters of the Potomac from those of the Four-Mile Run before the two streams come together. On the height of this peninsula is a burial place not more than thirty feet square. It has three great bichen-covered stones within the tumbling fence. Four trees shadow the graves.

The stones bear the names of members of a well-known Virginia family. On one is an inscription which tells that below lies the remains of Gen. Alexander Hunter, who died in 1917. Nathaniel Hunter, who died seven years later, lies at the general's side, while beyond is a crumbling stone above the grave of another Hunter. The family graves rest on a hilltop from which one may look far down the Potomac seaward. It is a good place to rest.

It will not be long now before spring in full tide will be upon Washington. Always on St. Valentine's day the song sparrows have appeared in the grounds of the capital. They probably do not know that it is St. Valentine's day, and of course it is only a coincidence that it has been that day for years, which they have chosen for their first open city appearance.

The robins which have been in Virginia all winter will come northward in a few days in great flocks. They are hardy birds and do not go South because it is cold, but because they can't get the food they like. Granted a food supply, they would stay north all winter, no matter how cold the north wind nor how deep the snow. Some of the robins do stay in the north in the recesses of the cedar swamps, the berries of which provide them with their daily provender.

Scout Life-Saving Medal

The gold life-saving medal of the Boy Scouts of America is awarded only for cases of unusual heroism in which the rescuer's life has been imperiled and successful application of scout training in the emergency has been displayed. On the medal the scout insignia occupies the position of a crest; below is a circle, in the center of which is the mystic sign representing the three ancient elements—fire, air and water, from which danger always comes. A red ribbon suspends this red badge of courage.

Gotham Intellectuals Saturated With Ego

"You don't know me? I am surprised. Why, I have had two intellectual dramas produced on Broadway," said the first guest to arrive at a private dinner the other day in a New York bachelor apartment to one of the late comers.

"Are your plays still running?" was the cold-blooded reply.

"No, they were not successful with the public, but the critics praised them highly. You must have heard of them. By the way, what have you done?"

The comedy element of the small New York group who have set themselves up as young intellectuals and keep boasting each other is that they borrow the garments of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth centuries and pattern their language after Sydney days when only a handful possessed the power of writing and reading, says Raymond G. Carroll in a New York letter to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"What have you done?" hurriedly pointed back at some new acquaintance is a favorite trick question designed to put the world in its place, Caesar talking down at a centurion.

"Not much," replied the later comer, who did not look as if he were particularly hungry. "You see, my friend, I only have to my credit the building of one of the great office buildings in New York city, and it is still standing. I am an architect with scores of buildings to my credit. And they are still standing. Yet nobody knows me and I don't mind."

Electrical Hygrometer Depends on Selenium

Selenium is a substance which through its peculiar properties, is being used in many unique processes. As most people know, the electrical resistance of this element changes when illuminated by light. Selenium cells are made by winding two wires on a porcelain or mica core. These wires are kept apart by melting selenium between them and permitting it to harden. The cell is then baked and treated in various ways and the resultant operation of the cell depends upon this treatment. The resistance of some cells increases when illuminated, while in others it decreases.

Another interesting property has been discovered, namely, that the resistance of a selenium cell changes with moisture. Immediately it became evident that the selenium cell could be used as a hygrometer to detect the amount of water vapor in the air. Experiments at once showed that the instrument indicates humidity with considerable accuracy when precautions are taken to standardize conditions. The selenium cell will readily lend itself to use as a regulator of moisture in the air in buildings. Modern buildings are equipped with apparatus controlling the amount of water vapor in the air, and as the selenium hygrometer is an electrical device it is possible to make the hygrometer automatically control the humidifier. Thus a practical instrument has grown out of a scientific toy.

Hot Water Centennial

Approaching is the centennial of one of the earliest successful installations of a hot water heating system, made by Arthur Wellesley Duke of Wellington. Before that England had shivered without relief, and the duke had felt called upon to express his opinion of the winter cold in no measured tones. But the same genius which put Napoleon in "hot water" put hot water into Wellington's home, the "Duke" as he was called, being interested in science and invention, and putting his inventive genius to work. Hot water heating came to this country in the middle of the Nineteenth century.

Saving Abbey Floors

In order to preserve the floor of the Westminster Abbey Chapter house in London, visitors are requested to remove their walking shoes and put on sandals before entering. The floor in the historic building dates back to 1290. The rule is enforced strictly and there is a watchman at all times to see that it is carried out. A generous supply of sandals, including all lengths and widths, is kept on hand.

FATHER GIBBONS ADDRESSES CLUB

Pastor Of St. Patrick's Is Speaker At Leetonia
Kiwanis Meeting.

Leetonia, Feb. 27.—Rev. Richard P. Gibbons, rector of St. Patrick's parish, was the special speaker at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club Tuesday. Robert Spidel of the Spidel shoe store, and Dr. Paul Beaver were received as members of club at the last meeting.

The noonday luncheons of the Business Men's club, have proved such a success and stimulus in discussing ways and means to assist the village council in movements for the bettering of the town that it was decided to continue them for a time.

At a former meeting a resolution, was adopted to recommend to council quick action on the proposed sewage disposal plant, this resolution, it was reported by the secretary, had been presented to council.

It was also decided to visit the next council meeting in a body in the interest of bettering conditions in the town. The special speaker not being present, the president called on Ira F. Melinger, Don Hasbrouck, C. E. Greenamyer, Joe Hunt and Dr. Paul Beaver for speeches. These men responded in their own happy manner with helpful suggestions.

K. of C. Party
The Knights of Columbus, rooms were a scene of a delightful party on Friday evening given by the young people of St. Patrick's parish. The pleasures of the evening, dancing and cards closed with a fine banquet.

Relative Dies
Rev. Wykoff, pastor of the local Methodist church, went to Columbus the last of the week where he was called by the death of a brother-in-law, St. Clair Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hophner entertained their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman P. Feoyck of Youngstown, over the week end.

Mrs. Carl Blattman and her father, William Wood, concluded a visit with relatives in New Castle and returned to their homes here the last of the week.

MILITARY ORDER'S PLEA TO SENATE

ASKS INVESTIGATION OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR PREVENTION OF WAR.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The Military Order of the World War, an organization composed of men who served their country as officers in the war with the Teutonic powers, has made a direct plea to the senate of the United States for the appointment of a committee to investigate the workings of the National Council for the Prevention of War, a society which has its headquarters in this city. The plea is made in the columns of the National Bulletin of the Military Order.

In Washington letters from time to time, attention has been called to the attempts of certain organizations to undo the army and navy of the United States and to prevent that proper preparedness which would make for the defense of this country in time of possible war. There are several organizations whose labors seem to be directed not so much to abolish war as to render this country defenseless in case a war of aggression against it should come.

The American Legion already has given attention to the activities of these organizations, and now the Military Order of the World War, virtually all of whose members also belong to the Legion, has taken the matter up.

Women's League Co-operates.

The members of the Military Order in so many words are asked to use their best efforts to combat the insidious and destructive propaganda of the "peace" organization, and to use every legitimate means of preventing "its paid propagandists from making any public speeches."

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is declared by the organization of former officers of the service to be a co-operating organization of the Council for the Prevention of War.

One of the members of the executive board of the Women's league is said to be a vice chairman of the council, and the veterans declare that another member, the wife of a prominent government official, has written and published the following as expressive of the attitude that it wishes American women to take in case their country ever becomes involved in war:

"Go to war if you want to, but know this: We have pledged ourselves not to give you our children, not to encourage or nurse your soldiers, not to knit a sock or roll a bandage, or drive a truck, or make a war speech, or buy a bond."

Training Camps Attacked.

From time to time articles have appeared and speeches have been made by representatives of organizations which have had as their bases or argument statements utterly misleading. One article which was given to the public asked the people in effect what they thought of the wickedness of a government which would send 7,000 officers to camp in summer time in order that they might be trained to kill people.

The facts in this case are these: The United States is trying to maintain a reserve corps of officers and men so that if war should come again we would not be caught in the predicament in which we were caught in 1917. There is precious little money to train anybody. There are about 80,000 reserve officers whose names are on paper. It is possible to give only about 7,000 of these officers a camp training in summer time, a training which lasts only two weeks.

The statement of the propagandists ignored everything except the fact that 7,000 men were to be trained, and cites this act as a shocking thing, without one word to disclose the really pitiful preparedness showing which the training plan made.

Frankly, one does not believe that congress can be induced to investigate this organization, for seemingly congress is as indifferent to any possible further war danger to the country as it was prior to 1917, when the insistence on a policy of unpreparedness later cost us the lives of thousands of American boys in the Argonne and along the Meuse, the Marne and the Aisne.

Active in Scouting

Scouting's program of work and play for a boy's leisure time has proved so helpful to the churches of this country in furthering their program of work with the boys of their congregations, that an increasingly large number of scout troops are being formed by practically all denominations. To care for the work incident to this increasing development a new division has been created by the executive board of the national council, Boy Scouts of America, entitled department of church relationships.

They Were All Mackays

A man named Mackay left a Glasgow restaurant the other evening and was greatly annoyed to discover that a taxi cab he had ordered was not to be seen. He promptly rang up the cab office to discover the reason for the carelessness.

"But, sir," said the clerk, "the driver told me that just a little while ago a gentleman came out and told him that Mr. Mackay's taxi cab was not to wait."

"Mr. Mackay's taxi cab?" belittled the other. "Do you know what was taking place in the restaurant? A Clan Mackay meeting."

Cruel Punishments of Pupils in Other Days

All the youngsters, whatever others may do, will approve the dismissal of the school teacher who dismissed a six-year-old boy as a punishment, says Girard in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The "cruel and unusual" so to speak, has almost vanished from the public schools.

Dr. J. George Becht, our Pennsylvania state superintendent, can recall when that was not the case. The little gray schoolhouse—it rarely could afford to be painted red or any other color—was then heated by a big square stove which burned cord wood.

One mode of punishment was to make a boy stand upon a piece of wood on the floor, which required nice balancing and soon became a torture.

That was less punishment, however, than another often adopted. A boy or girl was made to hold a heavy book with outstretched arm.

Try that and see how heavy even the lightest-weight novel becomes in ten minutes.

One form of school punishment has not changed.

It is a common practice in Philadelphia to "keep in" boys and girls after school hours.

Wearing the "foolscap" or standing in a corner with face to the wall is still occasionally used as a corrective measure.

Doctor Becht can also remember when it was not uncommon for a teacher to compel a boy to bend over and keep his hands on the floor—a form of torture thought out by a real genius for devilry.

At that time a man would attain a reputation for severity of discipline which would make him famous, or rather infamous, over an entire county.

Method Devised to Detect Renewed Eggs

A new deception practiced on the consumers of eggs is now attracting considerable interest from the United States Department of Agriculture which, by the authority of the food and drugs act, insists that the product of the hen when sold as fresh must be fresh and not merely look the part. It is to enter into interstate commerce. Large quantities of eggs are now preserved by first dipping in hot oil to seal the pores in the shells and are then immediately placed in cold storage. There is no objection to the practice, but recently it has been found that a number of egg concerns have been treating these eggs on removal from storage so as to give them the appearance of having been laid lately.

The treatment to remove the telltale oil gloss consists in "manicuring" the shells with a blast of fine sand or in treating them with a bath in an alkali solution, after which they are dried and rubbed with French chalk or talc. Chemists of the department have devised a method for detecting eggs which have been treated with oil and then subjected to the restoration process.

Brands Fruits and Nuts

One of the most recent applications of electricity to agriculture is the device which will brand various kinds of fruits and nuts with the grower's trade mark. It operates on current obtained from an ordinary electric lamp socket and is set next to the grading belt in the packing shed. The product to be marked rolls from the belt onto a miniature escalator which carries it over electrically-heated discs. These are kept at such a temperature that they will melt the natural wax in the peel or rind of the fruit and when thus prepared, other dies imprint the desired trade mark. The electrical fruit brander is now being used on oranges, water melons, apples and pears to prevent substitution of inferior products for advertised brands.

Nothing Serious

A budding doctor gave a youth some excellent crimson lozenges and told him to chew them for the purpose of relieving a cough. In the afternoon he called and administered a gargle. The result startled him.

"My goodness!" he exclaimed, "You are bleeding internally!"

He was so agitated that the patient had to laugh. Upon recovering he explained: "That wasn't blood, doctor; just the crimson lozenge."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

All It Was Worth

A Scotsman who had just been married asked the parson what was the fee.

"Well," was the reply, "there is no fixed fee. Pay what you think it is worth."

Whereupon the bridegroom handed him one shilling. The parson took it glanced at the bride, and handed back fourpence change.

Fell Into a Trap

"So this fine little baby is a girl?" beamed the rector, as he walked round the baby show.

The proud father assented. "And this other one—is it of the contrary sex?"

His wife's eyes were upon him, but with no thought of the wrath to come, he replied, blithely:

"Yes, sir; she is a girl, too."

Made a Difference

"A man is never older than he feels," declared the ancient beau, bravely.

"Now I feel as fresh as a two-year-old."

"Horse or egg?" asked the young thing brightly.

WHITE SEEKS GOVERNORSHIP

Files Declaration of Candidacy For the Republican Nomination—Burke and McCulloch Also to Enter the Race—State Welfare Director Criticizes Provisions of Davis Reorganization Act.

Columbus, Feb. 25.—Formal declarations of candidacy have been filed here by President Coolidge, who will seek the Republican nomination for president and by former Governor James M. Cox, who aspires to the Democratic nomination for the same office.

Hoke Donithen, President Coolidge's Ohio manager, entered Coolidge as a candidate, the act being accompanied by a request that his name be printed upon official ballots for the April primary election. With the Coolidge declaration was filed authorization of Arthur L. Garford of Elvira for the use of his name as second choice of the Coolidge delegates, as provided for in the Ohio primary election law. Donithen was designated as official representative in Ohio of Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Garford.

Cox's formal declaration, authorizing candidates for delegates in his behalf to the national convention, and designating Robert S. Hayes, Columbus, to act as his representative, was filed by Hayes with Secretary of State Brown.

Hayes also filed, signed by himself, formal declaration entering Cox's name in the Ohio preferential primary, April 29, and declaration of former Governor James E. Campbell, Columbus, as second choice candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Two more Democratic presidential candidates—William Gibbs McAdoo and United States Senator James Reed—probably will file soon as candidates on the Ohio preferential primary. United States Senator Burton Johnson, Legation, is practically certain, too, of filing in Ohio. Ladd is expected to approve complete status of delegates.

McAdoo is to file his declaration by telegram, followed by a mass confirmation. Wilbur D. Wilkin, Cleveland attorney, is to be designated by McAdoo as his authorized agent, and will sign the petitions of McAdoo candidates for delegates.

James A. White, former superintendent of the Ohio Anti-Slavery league, has entered into the contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. White's candidacy was announced on a platform of tax reduction, law enforcement, honest administration of the state blue sky department, better care of state wards and improved roads.

Among Republicans who have indicated that they will become candidates are State Senator J. E. Purke of Elvira and Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canaan. Attorney General Crobbe is not out of the list of probable candidates for Republican nomination for governor. He said he would make his decision within a month and that whether he entered for the nomination would depend upon the reception given White's candidacy.

Secretary of State Brown ruled that the candidates for delegates must have the written consent of the presidential candidates whose names they give as first and second choice for the presidency. Candidates have until Friday of this week to qualify.

In a report made to Governor Donahy, State Welfare Director John E. Harper, criticized provisions of the Davis reorganization act relating to control of state institutions and the methods of purchasing supplies and material. Return to the old bipartisan board of administration is advised in the report. The purchase system provided by the code, under which all supplies are purchased through the state purchasing department, is wholly unsatisfactory, causes unavoidable delay and is more expensive than the system in vogue prior to the adoption of the code, Mr. Harper told the governor.

Placing construction work of the welfare department under the direction of the state highway department also is criticized. When the welfare department maintained its own architects the cost did not exceed $10,000 a year, Mr. Harper said, but the highway department has charged $60,142 for architectural work in 18 months. Director Harper wants the "one man directorship" abolished and told the governor it is the consensus of opinion among heads of departments of the various institutions that under the present system the wards of the state can not be given proper care and attention. He recounted a number of changes that have been suggested, but refused to give his approval to any of them. "The safe and sane thing to do is to return to the tried, tested and successful system of a bipartisan board. The sooner this is done the better," he asserted. Harper also wants higher salaries for employees of the department and pensions for superannuated employees. "We feel that employees of the state institutions are not receiving salaries commensurate with their services. This is the cause of much dissatisfaction, discontent and the constant changing of employees, which works against the morale of the institutions," the report said. He recommended an increase of 20 per cent for all employees receiving less than $120 a year.

In urging a pension system for employees who have served the state 25 years, he said "to be compensated to drop such faithful servants when they are overtaken by the infirmities of age is little short of brutality."

Ohio's state banks closed the year 1934 with the largest total of resources in their history, according to a statement issued today by H. F. Scott, superintendent of banks, based on reports made under the law.

Resources of those banks at mid-time totaled $1,724,574,548, a gain of nearly $157,000,000 during the year. Deposits were $1,478,321,548, a gain of more than $140,000,000 during the year. Of this sum nearly $711,000,000 were savings deposits, a gain in savings deposits of more than $100,000,000 during the year. Superintendent Scott says these figures indicate people of Ohio have acquired personal savings habits.

Loans and discounts exceeded $1,000,000, an increase of nearly $120,000,000 during the year. Real estate loans exceeded $32,000,000, an increase of nearly $3,000,000.

Superintendent Scott says these figures show the extent to which the banks of the state responded to the demands for funds for buildings, manufacturing, farming and general business requirements. "Based upon information presented under the recent call, the department of banks feels warranted in predicting that the year 1935 will be a prosperous one for the people of the state of Ohio," said Superintendent Scott.

C. W. Ward of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation states that Ohio's 1934 potato crop should be the best ever produced if the season treats kindly the amount of good seed stock which will be used. Northern grown seeds will be used. Northern grown seeds have been coming to the office of the federation from every potato growing section of Ohio, made up largely by county farm bureaus, working with individual growers. Many pooled orders are being filed with improved seed from Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, although about 10,000 bushels of Ohio produced certified seed will also be used.

Use of the northern grown certified seed has grown rapidly during the past few years, according to Mr. Ward. Experiments of several years ago showed that the northern grown seed was more nearly free from disease and higher yielding than the majority of native Ohio stock. Northern grown seed has continued to outyield the unimproved seed in Ohio in nearly all of the potato growing sections. Reports from these sections indicate that increased yields of high quality stock have also reduced the production cost per bushel, making them more profitable for the grower.

Efforts of Ohio farmers toward seed improvement are not confined to potatoes. G. H. Lasher of the Farm Bureau federation, service department reports a greater demand for northern and western grown clover and alfalfa seed than at any time since the cooperative purchasing of these seeds has been handled through the organization. Orders for both clover and alfalfa are coming in large quantities and are being filled with seed produced under rigid inspection in Michigan, Canada, North Dakota and Utah. Timothy and barley are also being purchased cooperatively.

Dr. R. G. Leland, chief of division of hygiene in the state health department, outlined a review of health conditions in Ohio as revealed in reports received by the department. "Ohio," said Dr. Leland, "is greatly underhospitalized. However, movements are on in Columbus, Toledo, Cleveland and Cincinnati to rectify this condition. In a number of cities in the southeastern and southern part of the state there is not a single hospital bed. In New York city alone there are more hospital beds than in the entire state of Ohio. It is almost unbelievable that with few exceptions we have not until now given our human machine the same care we give our prize bred-greed live stock."

The state public utilities commission deputized three inspectors to investigate bus lines operating in Akron in lieu of street car service and to order any of these bus lines which have not obtained certificates of necessity or have taken out liability insurance to cease operation. Many receipts of complaints of unsafe operation of buses in Akron are on file with the commission. It was with inspectors Thompson, McLaughlin and Packard will make the investigation. There is no opposition to the bus owners or favoritism to the street car company, the order sets forth. The inspectors' duty being merely to see that the provisions of the Freedom of Public Transportation laws are being followed.

Even the pursuit of the innocent butterfly reveals the age-old instinct of man and woman to give chase to the opposite sex. An acute observer at the University of Kansas has noted that the men and women students in certain "bugology" classes, while chasing gayly flitting butterflies, give cries that unconsciously portray their different viewpoints.

A mixed group of students was roaming the campus on Mount Oread the other day, nets in hand, ready to capture certain butterflies as specimens for classwork. Several butterflies were spied down by a big blue hedge. The students gave chase.

"Oh, catch him, catch him!" cried several of the girls excitedly, as they dashed off after a brilliantly colored victim.

"There she goes," "Get her," "She's a beauty," sounded out made voices, as the men tore out after a fluttering prospect.

It has been said that "after man came woman." But surely it is equally true that "after woman goes man," —Kansas City Star.

STATE AID GIVEN COUNTY SCHOOLS

The second state installment turned over amounts in the aggregate to $24,535, making a total for the school year of $1,757,515 and still leaves available $752,485 of the $2,000,000 apportioned by the general assembly.

It is the intention of the state auditor, according to a letter just issued from his office, to allow for additional distribution of the collections under the preceding state levy, which amounts to $752,485, provided that he can do so without direct responsibility upon his bond.

It has been also explained by Mr. Tracy that he could not assume financial responsibility upon his bond for the school year, but that he is having this phase of the matter gone into very carefully by the best legal talent available and he has added, "I will be much pleased if they can give me an opinion favorable to the weak school districts. I am in hearty sympathy with the state doing its utmost to keep the school open for the full nine months term."

A 25c Test

Prove, in one hour, that here is a gentler and better relief than cathartics, pills, salts, oil or ordinary laxatives for the Bowels,—a more pleasant and efficient help than soda or the usual "indigestion remedies" for a Sour, Acid Stomach.

For fifty years "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it has an advantage over the usual laxatives and cathartics in being harmless, almost tasteless, mild in operation and not causing nausea, griping or the slightest inconvenience; also because it has an advantage over the usual "stomach remedies" in that it is markedly efficient, neutralizing almost three times as much acid as a saturated solution of Bicarbonate of Soda and almost fifty times as much as Lime Water. Besides, it is laxative, and inasmuch as constipation is frequently the cause of sour, acid stomach, its correction usually gives prompt relief.

Inductance Coil for Short Waves

Accessory Is Wound Upon Circular Ring of Insulating Material.

By EDWARD CINNS

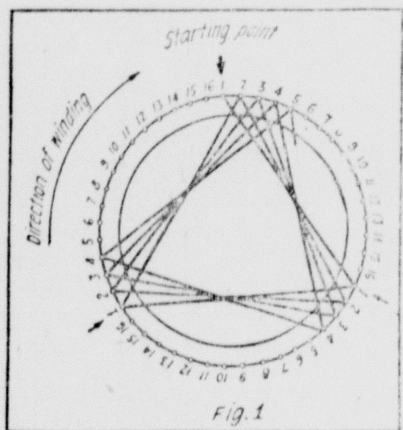

There are several characteristics which an efficient unit inductance coil must possess. Some of the most important of these are: Maximum inductance for a given amount of wire, a minimum distributed capacity, and a minimum resistance caused by losses from imperfect dielectrics in the field of the coil.

The coil which I shall describe possesses all of these features except the first; but, since it is to be used for short waves only, this will not interfere with its efficiency to a great extent. One of its desirable features is the ease with which it can be wound and the simplicity of the form upon which it is wound.

As can be seen from Fig. 1, the coil is wound upon a flat circular ring of suitable insulating material about one-fourth inch thick. The ring is about three-eighths inch wide, and may be any diameter desired; although I have found that five inches is about right for the broadcasting wave lengths.

The outside circumference of the ring is first divided into 96 parts. This is done by dividing the circumference by the radius. Mark every other one of the points left by the dividers. Next divide each space in half. Do this three more times and cut a notch at each of the 96 points.

No. 24 D. C. C. wire is about right for this coil. Secure the wire around the ring at one of the points which has been marked, calling this notch No. 1. Then stretch it across the next marked point. Do the same with the next notch No. 1. Then stretch it across point No. 2, as shown in Fig. 1, stepping each turn around a notch until all the notches are filled. Secure the wire around the ring at the last notch. This completes the coil.

The writer has thoroughly tested this coil for efficiency and has found that results are slightly better than those obtained with a spiderweb coil. With it I can receive WWJ (Detroit) on a crystal in almost any kind of weather, although the results are not entirely due to the coil, as the same station is received very faintly with a spiderweb coil.—Radio News.

Variocoupler Departs From Common Variety

Below is illustrated a variocoupler which departs from the conventional form of changing the number of turns of primary circuit to tune the wave-length desired. By using a long switch arm attached to the back of a switch lever, single tap tuning is afforded.

To construct the variocoupler, simply wind the primary coil around the tubing and also a narrow strip of bakelite the length of the tubing. This gives a flat surface for the switch arm to slide on, and is more compact, as well as being nearer in the outside appearance, than the ordinary coupler that requires several switch points, and even two sets of switches if signal tap variation is to be had.

Very Fine Variation of Inductance Can Be Obtained by Using This System, Which Is Less Complicated Than the Usual Method.

Shortens Life of Tube.
Before putting your tube in its socket be sure that all the resistance of your rheostat is in the circuit, for by jumping the full current on all at once you will shorten the life of your tube. It is best at all times to operate a tube on the minimum necessary voltage, for, besides cutting down many irritating noises, it may double or treble its life.

TOMMY CONNOLLY ROUNDS QUARTER CENTURY AS UMP

Chicago, Feb. 27.—When the cry of "play ball" is sounded on April 15 by Tommy ("Pop") Connolly, veteran American League umpire, he will turn the quarter century mark as a major league umpire. Four years' additional in the Eastern League, 1894 to 1898 inclusive, put his mark to the highest total of all umpires now that Bob Emslie has retired.

Connolly went from the Eastern League to the National League in 1898 and in 1901 along with "Pongo" Joe Cantillon Jack Sheridan and J. Haskell, he went over to the then newly formed American League. "Silk" O'Loughlin joined them a year later. For several years the dean of the umpires has discussed retiring, but word from him at his home in Natick, Mass., received today at American League headquarters, indicates he is as active as ever and awaiting the annual call to the diamond.

President Johnson declares he had always regarded Connolly as one of the most efficient umpires in the national pastime.

MAT MATCH ENDS IN AN ARGUMENT

Chicago, Feb. 27.—Stanislaw Zbyszko's followers were indignant today over what they claimed were unfair tactics in "Strangler" Lewis' defense of his title against the veteran last night.

The mat champion won with two headlocks in 24 minutes and 11 minutes flat, with Zbyszko taking one fall between with an arms scissors in 7 minutes, 39 seconds. Lewis "heeled" Zbyszko with his right arm just before the concluding fall and friends of the challenger claimed Lewis used his closed fist.

A heated argument followed and police were called to escort the wrestlers and Referee Pat McGinn from the ring.

Dempsey Under Knife

Hoppe Flays Horemans

New York, Feb. 27.—For the third time this season, Willie Hoppe, 182 lb. billiard champion, will defend his title when he meets Edouard Horemans, Belgian, here on April 8, 9 and 10. The match will call for 1500 points, 500 points each night.

7 Dodgers Hold Out

Contradicting a Proverb

"You can't get something for nothing," remarked the ready-made philosopher.

"Maybe not," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "but I'll say the man who took my good money in exchange for forged masterpieces came very near it."

Hypnotist Will Use Women As Subjects

There was another big audience at the Grand theater last night to see Gaivani, the hypnotist and mind reader, and he pleased and mystified with his wonderful work. He will close his engagement this evening and has some entirely new tests to perform.

A number of women have volunteered to submit themselves as subjects for the first half hour, after which men subjects will be used. He will also devote 20 minutes to mind reading tests.

"Mississippi Dragons"

Two devil-like monsters painted and carved on the face of a cliff 80 feet above the Mississippi river near Alton, Ill., were discovered by the French explorers Marquette and Joliet in June, 1673. They were known as the "Plasma petroglyphs" to archeologists and were commonly called the Mississippi dragons. They were ranked as the finest example of early Indian art, and many legends were told to account for them. Marquette described them as being "as large as a calf, with horns on the head like a deer, a fearful look, red eyes, bearded like a tiger, the face somewhat like a man's, the body covered with scales and the tail so long that it twice makes a turn of the body, passing over the head and down between the legs, and ending at last in a fish's tail." The painting was in an almost inaccessible place on the cliff and remained there until 1850 or '57, when limestone workers quarried back into the bluff and destroyed it.

Radio in the Arctic

Daylight acts to disintegrate radio waves, or affects the earth's crust so that it "for some other undefined natural phenomena" absorbs them, experimental communication with stations in the frozen north has convinced K. B. Warner, secretary of the American Radio Relay league.

His experiments were made in a worldwide "check-up" to discover what was preventing contact during the five weeks of Arctic daylight between stations on this continent and the ice-bound ships of Roald Amundsen and Donald B. MacMillan.

Intelligence of Indian Elephant Illustrated

The real test of animal intelligence, according to Mr. Samuel A. Derby in the American Magazine, is the ability to meet an unforeseen difficulty, to grapple with a situation for which neither training nor instinct has prepared. Here is a good example.

A traveler of the name of Tenant was once riding horseback along a road in India, on both sides of which grew a dense jungle. Suddenly his horse shied violently, and Mr. Tenant saw coming toward him a huge elephant unattended and balancing on its tusks a heavy timber that he was evidently carrying from a sawmill to the shipyard. The timber filled the road from side to side, and Mr. Tenant could not possibly pass.

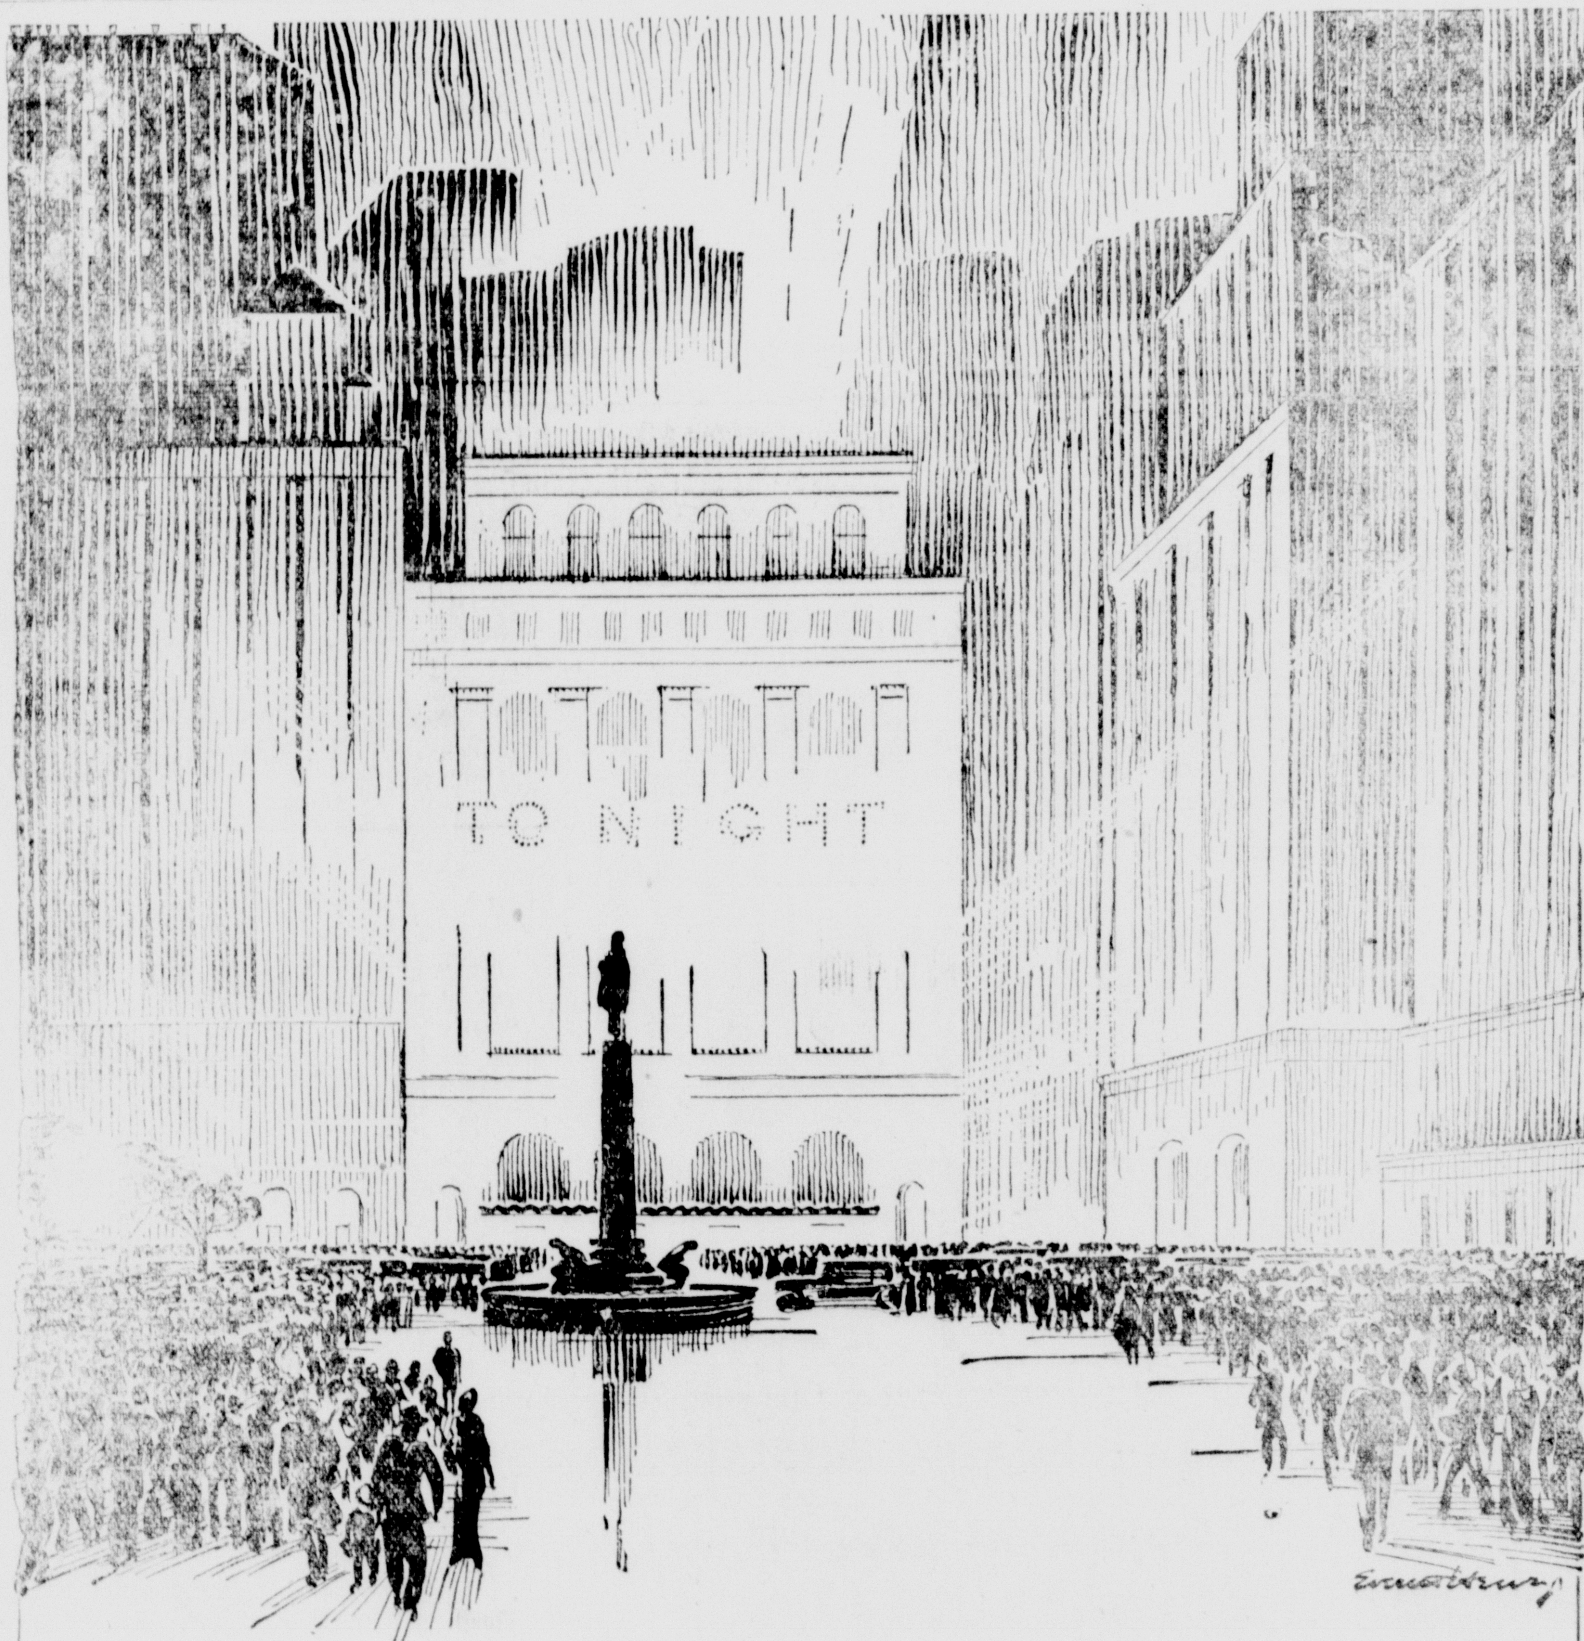

Suddenly the elephant, seeing horse and rider, stopped and turned aside. Then he backed a short distance into the jungle and, leaving room for horse and rider to pass, snorted out his directions that they should go on. But a horse is terribly afraid of an elephant, and Mr. Tenant's horse continued to rear and plunge; the man himself, interested to see what would happen next, did not force him to pass.

Deeper and deeper into the jungle the elephant backed; still the horse reared and plunged. At last the elephant laid the piece of timber down and, pushing hard against the undergrowth, disappeared. Then Mr. Tenant rode past.

A short distance down the road he reined in and looked back. The elephant came out of the jungle, picked up the timber with his tusks, balanced it with his trunk and, turning it round in the road, went on his way with loud snorts of indignation and disgust.

Value of Egyptian Irrigation

Irrigation work, including the Assuan dam in Egypt, has cost to date about $53,000,000, but the increase in the value of land in middle and lower Egypt and in the Fayum province has been from $955,000,000 to $2,140,000,000 and the total rent from this area of land has risen from $82,000,000 to $190,000,000. This is what the irrigation engineer has done for Egypt in two decades.

Such popularity must be deserved

OVER the footlights or over the counter, it's the same story—the big public can't be fooled.

If a play or a product makes good, it's because it is good! Chesterfield's swift rise was no accident. Smokers were ready for a better cigarette.

Chesterfield grew and continues to grow, on its taste alone—and after all, taste is the smoker's own best proof of tobacco quality.

"Look Your Very Best"

That "mysterious something" reflected by women who look different—a difference which is always noted and frequently remarked—is really the art of knowing how to get one's self up—according to their individual type. Those who don't know or don't care and use toilettries regardless of their individual type of skin, never reflect the charm possessed by the other woman who knows.
